Assoprovder joins ELFA; strengthening the European voice of alternative operators

ELFA, the European Local Fibre Alliance, is proud to welcome Assoprovder as its newest member. Assoprovder, representing more than 170 Italian network operators, joins ELFA's growing alliance, which now collectively represents around 800 alternative network operators across Europe.

Andrew van der Haar, President of ELFA, warmly welcomes the Italian association:

"I think it is good that we can combine and share more knowledge about the strength of the alternative network. With Assoprovder joining, we gain valuable insights into the Italian market and can better inform MEPs and policymakers at the European Commission."

Antonella Oliviero, President of Assoprovder, adds:

"We have been looking for a long time to connect with an independent umbrella organisation in Brussels that can also give a voice to Italy. Joining ELFA allows us to be part of a strong European network that shares our goals and values."

The addition of Assoprovder strengthens ELFA's position as the voice of Europe's alternative operators, enhancing collaboration, knowledge exchange, and representation at the European level.

About ELFA

The European Local Fibre Alliance (ELFA) represents alternative network operators across Europe, promoting fair competition, innovation, and the development of open and high-quality digital infrastructure. ELFA serves as the collective voice of its members toward the European institutions, policymakers, and the broader digital ecosystem.
